Summary

I'm a Frontend Developer passionate about building responsive, user-friendly web applications using React, JavaScript, and Tailwind CSS. I enjoy transforming UI designs into clean, reusable components while writing maintainable code and creating seamless user experiences. I'm currently expanding my skills into backend development with Node.js, Express.js, and MongoDB to become a well-rounded full-stack developer. I enjoy collaborating with other developers, learning modern technologies, and solving real-world problems through software. I'm currently open to internship opportunities, junior frontend roles, and freelance projects where I can contribute, learn, and continue growing as a software engineer.
